

$10,000,000 Bond Issue for Schools Proposed by Dixon

Measure Providing Funds for Universities and High Schools Will Be Given To Senate Today.

BROAD EDUCATION PROGRAM PLANNED

Measure in Line With Views of Governor Walker and Others That Schools Need Funds.

A state bond issue of $10,000,000 for Georgia universities and high schools is provided for in a bill which will be introduced in the state senate today by Senator J. A. Dixon, of the 17th district. The bill is in line with efforts of Governor Clifford Walker and other leaders to provide more revenue for educational purposes in Georgia.

Senator Dixon's bill, he pointed out, is designed to bring this state to the level of the list from a literary standpoint. Needs of state universities and high schools for funds to carry on their work are pressing, has been pointed out in addresses by Governor Walker and other leading Georgians, and a state bond issue is regarded as one of the best means of relieving the situation, leaders agree.

In the governor's recent message to the legislature he went on record as favoring a state bond issue of between $10,000,000 and $15,000,000 for schools.

One of Big Issues.

Georgia's educational problem is one of the big issues before this session of the legislature, and already a bill has been introduced to provide an equalization fund for carrying out broader education programs in county districts to give children of rural sections an equal chance with city children. The university and high school system needs a great amount of money if it is to continue in operation, speakers have pointed out, and Senator Dixon's bill is expected to supply a great part, if not all of this need, he asserted.

The oil and gas well bill will be considered by the agricultural committee, Senator Hughes, chairman, at 9:30 o'clock this morning in the office of the state geologist. The measure would require drilling of wells in this state.

Consider Viaducts.

Meetings of the W. & A. committee to consider the Atlanta viaducts resolution; of the Education and public schools committee to pass upon educational measures, including the equalization fund bill, and of several other committee hearings held the center of interest in the upper body of the general assembly today.

A new angle was thrown into the viaducts bill discussion in the senate Monday when Senator T. L. Knight, of the sixth, introduced a resolution for appointment of a joint committee of two from the senate and three from the house to investigate the advisability of erecting a new station to replace the present one at Union station, and to look into the sale of the W. & A. properties in Chattanooga. The resolution was referred by President J. Howard Kohn to the W. & A. committee for consideration.

The resolution provides that the joint committee shall investigate property rights and valuation, whether it is necessary to use the property for railway facilities; whether a sale or lease could be made for other purposes.

U. S. Planning To Eliminate 'Kick' In Beer

New Campaign Launched To Stop Leakage of 'High Power' Liquid.

Washington, July 13.—(By the Associated Press.)—The federal government is preparing to launch a new campaign to stop the leakage of "high power" beer.

New regulations are being drawn looking to more drastic action "just the breeder of the illicit commodity. They are intended to be definite and positive as to the speedily action by the United States attorneys in the prosecution of violators of the beer and wine laws.

The program contemplates demanding that the owner of every "potential brewery" obtain federal permits before operation of his plant will be construed as within the law. A system of intelligence by which the brewers may be kept under constant surveillance has been worked out and the removal from such a plant of "high power" beer, or any beer containing more than one-half of one per cent of alcohol by volume, will be cause for action by the prohibition agents. The second important phase of the regulations is designed to compel all officers of United States attorneys. Provision is made that the prohibition agents who develop the evidence may keep tabs on the progress of each case in court and advise both the treasury and department of justice any delays which fall due.

EDUCATION BOARD ROWS PREDICTED IN MEETING TODAY

Effort To Abolish Civil Service in Schools Slated To Provoke Storm of Debate by Members.

With a stormy session in prospect the board of education will meet this afternoon to consider a charter amendment which would abolish the civil service system in Atlanta schools, and a proposed investigation of reported irregular conditions at the O'Keefe Junior High school.

Dr. R. H. Eubanks, commissioner from the fourth ward, stated Monday that a petition asking the legislature to abolish civil service has been signed by a majority of board members and predicted its passage.

Opponents of the measure, however, contend that it would necessitate an amendment to the rules and for that reason, would be forced to lie on the table for a month before action could be taken. If that course is followed it will be practically impossible to get the paper before the legislature at the present session.

Service Is Criticized.

Dr. Eubanks contends that the civil service system deprives the superintendent of authority that he should have, and that it fosters inefficiency in cases of some teachers. He also claims that it protects inefficient teachers and is of no assistance to competent instructors.

The proposed O'Keefe school investigation, to be asked by Dr. Eubanks, is an outgrowth of charges made at the last board meeting that internal strife at the school has made conditions unbearable for some employees, and caused resignation of others.

Dr. Eubanks plans to ask the superintendent to make a thorough examination of the situation and to make a detailed report to the board.

No names will be mentioned in the charges, it is understood, the request asking that everyone be investigated "from principal to janitor."

May Increase Tuition.

A special committee named to investigate non-resident tuition fees is expected to recommend increasing of the fee for normal school and high schools from $100 to $150, and that of non-resident elementary school students from $50 to $75. The investigation made at the request of city council is said to have shown that the annual cost per pupil is considerably higher than fees now in effect.

Routine transfers of a number of teachers will be recommended and it is expected that the superintendent will recommend that Mr. Maggie Solomon be named principal of Forsyth school to succeed Mrs. L. R. Sams, resigned.

A flare-back from the recent textbook battle also is expected, some members contending that adoption of a certain book was illegal.

VIADUCTS BILL PEACEFUL END PASSAGE SEEN TO DATE FIGHT IN HOUSE TODAY NOW FORECAST

Proponents Win First Test of Strength; House Overrides Objection To Handling Measure.

EFFORT TO BLOCK LONDON SITUATION STILL IS SERIOUS

Proposal To Sell Atlanta Right To Build Bridges Over W. & A. Tracks Is Broached.

First business before the house of representatives this morning will be the resolution giving the city of Atlanta authority to build viaducts over the state-owned railroad tracks at Pryor street and Central avenue. Debate on this resolution was in heated progress when a motion to adjourn was carried early Monday afternoon.

Proponents of the measure saw assurance of success in a roll call vote on a motion introduced early in the Monday session which would have delayed action on the proposal for at least two weeks. This motion called for appointment of a special committee to investigate the value of the Western & Atlantic terminal properties in Atlanta and Chattanooga, with instructions to report back in two weeks. The result would have been to delay passage of the viaduct resolution for at least a fortnight. The speaker referred the motion to the W. & A. committee, but Representative Milner of Dodge, moved that it be referred to the committee on railroads. On an aye and nay vote, the speaker was upheld 91 to 70.

Several local measures and matters of minor importance were adopted by the house Monday, and one resolution, providing for an increased appropriation for the department of health, was tabled when arguments were made that all appropriations should be made through the appropriations committee.

A resolution introduced several days ago by Representative Sted, of Taylor, and calling on the commissioner of agriculture to report to the house within the next 10 days the value to the farmers of the state of the market bureau, was adopted. Representative Sted called the resolution up for action and secured its passage.

When the viaducts resolution proper came up, Miss Bessie Kempton, of the Fulton delegation, was the first to speak in its support. She was followed by Representative Lanier, of Columbia, who introduced an amendment to the resolution, providing that the city of Atlanta should pay to the state $200,000 for the right to build the viaducts. Representative Lanier spoke on his own amendment and was followed by Representative Whitolt, of Warren, who supported the original resolution. In view of the small attendance on Monday, supporters of the viaduct resolution supported the motion to adjourn when it was put by Representative Harris, of Jefferson, thus postponing final action on the resolution until today.

Vote by Noon.

The house convenes at 10 o'clock this morning and as soon as the routine preliminaries are disposed of, will continue debate on the viaducts, with prospects of a favorable vote strong before noon.

Miss Kempton, making the first speech for the viaducts, told the house that the viaducts are absolutely necessary both for relief of street congestion and for the better handling of trains by the lessees of the railroad, the N. C. & St. L. She pointed out that the viaducts will not cost the state one cent for construction and that they will enhance the value of the state's property. The state is protected by the resolution, she said, from any liability growing out of their erection.

Miss Kempton, in answer to a question by Lanier, of Jefferson, stated that the lessee cannot charge off their part of the viaducts' cost against their contract with the state and that the viaducts will not cost the state one cent for construction and that they will enhance the value of the state's property. The state is protected by the resolution, she said, from any liability growing out of their erection.

U. S. WILL PRESS POWERS TO GIVE RELIEF TO CHINA

Urges Immediate Conferences on Gradual Abolition of Extra Territorial Rights in Orient.

Washington, July 13.—The United States will continue to press for an immediate conference on gradual abolition of extra territorial rights in China and for a conference on Chinese customs duties despite the opposition from abroad, most notably from Great Britain.

This government's desire for early conferences will be emphasized to the foreign diplomatic corps at Peking by American Minister John Van A. Macmurray when he presents his credentials on Wednesday. This will constitute the next step.

This government, it is understood, will do everything in its power to carry out the pledges for these two conferences contained in the Washington arms conference treaties with Secretary of State Kellogg and Under Secretary Grow back at their desks from Swampscott where they canvassed the situation with President Coolidge.

Opposition Not Serious.

The opposition from Great Britain was expected here in view of pressure from nationals in China and is not regarded seriously. It is viewed as natural. In the end it is believed that Great Britain will swing into line.

Any other course, it is believed, would be damaging to her interests. Public and official opposition from Great Britain would lead to such reprisals as trade boycotts by the Chinese, it is believed, in view of China's demand for treaty revision which is deep seated.

As yet, Great Britain has not refused officially to join the proposed conference, as far as can be learned. She is expected to announce her position soon.

An immediate conference on extra-territoriality, would mean that this conference would be held in the fall, as that is the earliest time at which the preliminaries could be arranged, provided the conference were called soon.

Customs Conference.

The customs conference, this government hopes, will be held about the same time. Ratification of the power treaty by France is expected to be deposited at the state department within the next few days. This treaty provides for a conference, three months after final ratification.

The conference on extra-territoriality was not provided under this treaty, but in a separate resolution which provided that it be held one year after the arms conference. China asked postponement, and nothing has been done since.

The extra-territoriality resolution provides only for a commission to study the subject of gradual abolition of extra-territorial rights held by foreigners in China. The commission might recommend abolition within 10 years, or might set a longer time.

Engineer Who Saw 17 Killed Pleds for Safety Measure

RAILWAY GRADE CROSSING BILL APPROVED

Chicago, July 13.—(AP)—More than three-score persons were killed throughout the country yesterday as a result of the heat wave, lightning, automobile, flying and bathing mishaps and other causes.

With thousands of persons seeking relief from the humidity at beaches, deaths from drowning led the fatalities, 28 lives being lost. Nineteen were killed in automobile smashups, four were slain by lightning, six died of the heat, three perished in a train explosion and one met death in an airplane accident. In addition, several scores were injured, mostly in motor car accidents.

Three of the heat deaths were recorded in New York city, where the second hottest Sunday of the year was reported. The mercury there rose to 91 degrees with a high humidity. In the middle west the highest temperature was at Des Moines—100 degrees—while the 98 point was reached at Lincoln, Neb., with 97, the record at Omaha. Chicago contributed two to the heat death total and Sioux City, Iowa, one. Missouri's hot weather was reduced by a heavy rainfall.

It was estimated that 240,000 Chicagoans flocked to the beaches Sunday.

DARROW CHARGES BIGOTRY CAUSED PASSAGE OF LAW

Chicago Attorney Declares William Jennings Bryan Was Responsible for Tennessee Act.

JUDGE TO DECIDE ON MOTION TODAY

Constitutionality of Law Defended by State. Court Ends Clash Between Lawyers.

Dayton, Tenn., July 13.—(AP)—Judge John T. Raulston, presiding at the trial of John Thomas Scopes, on a charge of violating the law of the state of Tennessee, making it a misdemeanor to teach theories of evolution in the public schools, retired to his chambers tonight to study the question of whether the indictment against the 24-year-old school teacher shall be summarily quashed. The judge carried with him briefs of the half score points stressed by the contending sides in the case while ringing in his judicial paws were words from half a dozen oral arguments presented to the court during the day.

It was the first of perhaps other days to be devoted entirely to oratory. The jury's service was brief. Soon after court opened and the state had interrogated one juror, R. L. Gentry, as to whether he had expressed an opinion as to the guilt or innocence of the defendant, the jury was sent from the room that argument might be made on the motion to quash. Mr. Gentry went with his fellow juror after declaring that he could not recall having said that Scopes ought not to be convicted.

"There is no reflection on him," the attorney general explained. Starting the morning session with a carefully poised reading of the formal motion to quash and a calm argument by John R. Neal for the defense, the heat of the argument gained intensity as the day wore on.

B. G. McKenzie, former attorney general, and Dudley Field Malone, of counsel for the defense, engaged in a clash, ending in smiles, but for a moment giving indications of developing into a spirited exchange.

During Attorney General Stewart's argument for the state in the afternoon he was questioned by defense attorneys on several points. Mr. Stewart suggested with a smile, "perhaps you would like to put me on the witness stand."

"Va-va-va" was the chorus from the defense table.

Extended Arguments.

The day of speech making was brought to a close by the two most extended arguments of this trial, Attorney General A. T. Stewart and Clarence Darrow taking up the entire afternoon session with their discussions of the soundness of the indictment and the constitutionality, wisdom and fairness of the Tennessee law putting evolution theories under the ban in so far as public schools are concerned.

The attorney was emphatic in de-

Packed Courtroom Listens To Evolution Case Oratory

PRESS PHOTOGRAPHERS DELAY PROCEEDINGS

Dayton, Tenn., July 13.—(AP)—Arguments, photoplay and high temperature were the features of the second day of the Scopes evolution trial, less spectacular but more numerously attended than the opening day, Friday, when the young biology instructor was brought into court in the midst of colorful scenes.

The debate between opposing counsel over the defense motion to quash the indictment against John Thomas Scopes was listened to in grave silence by the hundreds who packed the Rhea county courtroom, but much of the discussion was of a technical nature and few of the verbal encounters and sallies could be heard by the masses of people in the auditorium.

It was the cameramen who were hailed as victors after the long session which exhausted scores who stood and watched hundreds who kept their seats throughout the day for fear of losing them by moving. To the photographers the day was a series of exposures.

Before the court convened the picture makers, equipped for "stills" or "movies," had established themselves upon the judge's eminence. They swarmed atop the counsel tables. High upon the window coping they climbed to cling in precarious perches. Through them Judge Raulston, of equal temperament, had to fight his way in mounting to the trial rostrum.

Full 20 minutes after the hour set for resuming the court sessions the cameramen watched their advantage. At length when the presiding judge had sufficiently cleared the stand for him to see the counsel tables, the determined picture-takers ranged themselves in his immediate rear like a general's staff on parade.

Banished after several hours by the patient court, the exits fought their way to the tops of press tables, just outside the railled arena, and there remained until the close of day, well within effective range.

The heat today was more intense than on Friday when cooling breezes occasionally entered. The universal distress was augmented by the press of the crowd and the heat of the previous attendance in the Rhea county tribunal. Corridors were thronged and windows were blocked by human masses. Around the single entrance deputies found it necessary continuously to admonish the scores without pressing inward.

Scarcely a coat could be seen along the counsel tables where lawyers gathered from distant states opposed or aided attorneys of Tennessee. Three small electric fans played upon the judge's seat but were inadequate to relieve the discomfort of sufferers further from the bench.

The defendant, Scopes, almost submerged under the vast array of counsel in his behalf, was little seen and heard not at all. He viewed the proceedings with unemotional face.

Outside the courthouse, small groups gathered at the radio amplifiers to listen to the legal pronouncements. But mostly they struggled to enter the courtroom for they had come to see, as well as to hear.

Evolution Judge Says Judiciary Needs Diligence

Dayton, Tenn., July 13.—(AP)—Judge John T. Raulston, presiding at the Scopes trial here today, gave his conception of the necessary qualifications of a judge, in an interview granted the scores of newspaper reporters here.

"In the maintenance of a republican form of government, it is essential that the judge be distinguished by legislative, judicial and executive departments," said the judge.

"The judicial department has no concern as to the motives, wisdom or policy of statutes, therefore it should be absolutely nonpolitical."

"No person should be elevated to judicial office because of his political affiliation or partisan activities."

"Fitness and temperament, legal attainments and character should be paramount in the selection of all judicial officers."

"Speaking more in detail, a judge should be industrious, patient, conscientious, courageous and firm. He should be well grounded in the fundamentals of the law and his character should be absolute and superlative."

"In the very nature of things there can be no such combination as a dishonest individual and an honest judge in the same personality. The standards of dishonesty and those of integrity are too inconsistent and incompatible to cohabit the same mind."

"A judge should begin all investigations with an open mind and should never hastily and rashly rush to conclusions."

Should Cast Off Prejudice.

"So long as there is any question of either law or fact in doubt, he should diligently inquire for the truth."

"No judge should use the functions of his office for his individual advantage and to the detriment of the public. He should always remember that he is merely a trustee and that the powers and privileges of the office do not belong to him and are not subject to personal appropriation or misuse."

"A judge should divest himself of all prejudices, suppress all passion with him and have one purpose and one only, and that is to find the truth and to declare justice."

Evolution Law To Delay Books For Tennessee

Nashville, Tenn., July 13.—(AP)—Delivery of textbooks for use in the public schools of Tennessee for the next five years will be delayed because special editions must be prepared for this state by the book publishers in order to eliminate paragraphs and pages which treat with the descent of man from the lower order of animals.

Textbooks on biology and history submitted to the state textbook commission and adopted were reeking with the theory of evolution and lengthy discussions of Darwin and his works with quotations from and comments on other evolutionists and naturalists of the world.

With Governor Austin Peay, chairman of the state textbook commission, out of the state, S. P. L. Harned, commissioner of education, secretary of the body on a trip abroad, there was no specific information on just what action would be taken.

The commission during the adoption in June.

In a joint session of the commission, a member of the commission, however, declared tonight that the state was protected against every turn from the adoption of anything in the textbooks which would tend to violate the anti-evolution law.

The member said that after the commission had instructed the publishers to eliminate certain sections of the history submitted, it was left up to the publishers themselves to safeguard their contracts with the state against abrogation.

The signed contracts provide for substitutions for any text whose substance conflicts with Tennessee law.

DARROW SAYS BIGOTRY CAUSED LAW PASSAGE

claring that warrant of law may be abundantly cited to support the contention of the prosecution.

Clarence Darrow after opening with a pleasant appreciation of the action of the court in bestowing the title of "colonel" upon him, declared in his opening words that the anti-evolution law "was wicked and mischievous."

He replaced his smile with almost a scowl as he said he would attempt to place himself in the 10th century and he would treat the law seriously.

Exchange of Counsel.

The exchange of counsel, furnishing the first real battle of words in the trial, was started by John Randolph Neal, who fired the first gun but took no later part.

Mr. McKenzie, a veteran of many a Tennessee legal battle, was speaking when Dr. Neal inquired: "Is the general discussing our motion, or the admissibility of evidence?"

The former attorney general replied that he was replying to the executive speech of Arthur G. Darrow on evolution and incidentally to the general argument, adding:

"These questions have all been settled in Tennessee and favorable to the contention. If these gentlemen have any laws in the great metropolitan city of New York that conflict with it, or in the great white city of the north-west that will throw any light on it, we will be glad to hear about it. They have many great lawyers and courts up there."

Dudley Field Malone was on his feet instantly to say "we object to this argument. The motion before the court does not involve the discussion of admissibility of evidence. We are discussing the constitutionality of this indictment on a motion to quash. And I would like to say here, although I do not mean to interrupt the speaker, that I do not consider further allusion to geographical parts of the country as particularly necessary, such as references to New York or Illinois. We are here, rightfully, as American citizens in a court of justice."

Before Mr. McKenzie could reply, Judge Raulston broke in: "Colonel Malone, you do not know General McKenzie as well as the court does. Everything he says is in good humor. I want you gentlemen from New York or any other foreign state to always remember that you are our guests, and that we accord you the same privileges and courtesies that we do any other lawyer."

"We appreciate the hospitality of the court and the people of Tennessee," said Mr. Malone, "but while we are in this courtroom we are here as lawyers and not as guests."

Mr. McKenzie gained the floor to say: "We have the highest regard for the distinguished lawyers. I admit that I have no respect for their opinions, that have been advanced as to the law, and do not believe it to be the law. But I love them—I love them all."

"And I'm strong for you," from Mr. Malone ended the incident.

Protests Against Prayer.

Although no formal action was taken in court it was learned this morning that Mr. Darrow had entered a protest with the judge against the custom of opening the court day with prayer.

A Methodist minister offered a prayer on the first day of the trial and a Baptist minister prayed today but court was not opened until the prayer was concluded.

Judge Raulston said in regard to Mr. Darrow's protest that he had visited the visiting lawyer and the judge believed in prayer and proposed to have it daily in the court. Judge Raulston said that he, Mr. Darrow, "This is a matter for my conscience and it is my responsibility."

Moves to Quash Indictment.

At the opening of court today, after the indictment had been read to the defendant, John R. Neal made the formal statement for the defense that the indictment be quashed. The defense launched into a general attack on the indictment and the statute under which it was drawn.

Neal said that the statute violated constitutional requirements; that but one subject shall be embraced in a bill, that it shall contain a clear and definite statement of its intent and purpose and that education shall be cherished.

It was intended that the guaranteed right of free worship was violated as was the free communication of thoughts and opinion. The law that general laws only shall be passed was also held to have been violated and a charge that the statute was vague and indefinite was made.

The 14th amendment of the United States constitution was cited, under which it was provided that no state shall make or enforce laws which shall abridge privileges for immunities of citizens of the United States.

Dr. Neal in his argument took up sketching some of them rapidly, with an explanation that his associates would go into details and elaborate later.

Neal's Contention.

"We think that the act makes a crime of teaching certain doctrine in the Bible, which we think the court can take judicial knowledge of," said Mr. Neal.

"A doctrine in the Bible is so in-

Evolution Juror OBJECTS TO NAME 'BILL' GIVEN HIM

Dayton, Tenn., July 13.—(By the Associated Press.)—Court was delayed 25 minutes in opening this morning for the resumption of the trial of John T. Scopes on a charge of violating the law of Tennessee against teaching evolution theories in public schools. The delay was caused by the activities of newspaper and motion picture photographers who photographed everyone in sight.

When the roll of the jury was called, William G. Day filed objection to his name being carried officially as "Bill." This was corrected.

The attorney general announced that he had no objection to the jurors and the other eleven were seated while R. L. Darrow was interrogated.

He said that every man that reads the Bible will have a different interpretation as to exactly what it says on the question of evolution.

"We have been met constantly by the assertion 'if you don't like this law, have it repealed.' I grant that the legislature spoke for the majority of the people of Tennessee but we represent the minority, the minority that is protected by a great provision of our constitution, that was made to protect one individual, or a dozen, or a thousand."

Arthur Hays Speaks.

Arthur G. Hays followed Dr. Neal with a second argument for the defense, which would tend to make the act indefinite and early in his argument devoted himself to this contention.

The word "teach" he thought meant to give instruction. He could conceive a law, he said, that would be bad if it provided that the story of divine creation as taught in the Bible should be rejected.

"It should not be wrong to teach evolution, or certain phases of evolution, but not as a fact. If the law means that we can't teach evolution, it should be definitely stated. If it means that you cannot explain a certain theory that should be stated plainly or whether either or both of them can be expounded."

He submitted a hypothetical law he had drafted which he insisted would be constitutional if the act under discussion were the law.

In this suggested bill it would be a violation of the law to teach the heliocentric theory in all universities, colleges and public schools of the state. The penalty would be death.

That the attack on the insufficiency of the indictment has been often passed on by the supreme court of the United States, he declared.

Ben T. McKenzie, making the first argument for the state, vigorously declared that the legislature was not the one to decide the constitutionality of the law.

He said that the constitutionality of the law was a question for the courts and not for the legislature.

Giant Ape En Route To Trial of Scopes Will Be 'Shown Off'

When a factory girl bride of a young scion of wealth visits her husband's parents for the first time the great and all-important question is, "What shall I do to make a good impression?"

Perhaps the same interrogation point floated through the mind of Big Joe, monster chimpanzee, from Miller Brothers' 101 Ranch, when he stepped in Atlanta Monday en route to the Scopes evolution trial in Dayton, Tenn.

Big Joe, in charge of his keeper, Arthur Eldridge, is being sent to Dayton in an effort to clarify matters somewhat in the mad wrangle precipitated by deductions from a certain Mr. Darwin.

The "gentleman from darkest Africa" refused to make a statement for publication though the deep lines on his thoughtful face spoke loudly of the worry he is being occasioned through the dispute that is making Tennessee famous.

Incidentally, Big Joe is a glaring example of the "survival of the fittest." He is the largest ape in captivity, his owners declare, and proudly shows his modest domestication.

He remains true to his first love—the love of the jungles. In consequence he is housed in a cage and conspicuously "handle with care."

Mr. Eldridge said that his only instructions are to take the giant ape to Dayton and show him off.

He said that he would not shake the faith of anyone in the Bible.

He said that he would not know there are millions of people in the world who look upon him as being a Divine Book, and I have not the slightest objection to it. I feel just exactly the same toward the religious creed of every human being who lives.

"If anybody finds anything in this life that brings them consolation and hope, I think they ought to have it."

It is a book of religion, however, he pointed out, and not one of science or geology or astronomy.

Arbiter Would Be Needed.

If the law prohibiting the teaching of evolution should be held constitutional, he said, it would be necessary to appoint an arbiter who would say just what the Biblical account of the creation of man was, declaring there were many different interpretations, and pointing out that the law simply prohibited the teaching of any theory of evolution of man that conflicted with the Bible and did not name any theory that might be taught.

"Why not say that you must teach that man was made of the dust?" he queried, "and still stranger not deny the origin of the dust, without taking any chances on it?"

His client, he said, would have to know all about the Bible and the different theories of evolution before he could know just what the law prohibited.

Following the steps of Attorney General Stewart, who had preceded him, he took up each point in the motion to quash and argued it.

Where the attorney general had argued that the caption to the bill was broader than the bill itself, Darrow contended that the caption masked an ingenious attack upon the religious freedom of the people, contending with his assuasive but no less logical argument that the law was unconstitutional.

CHICAGO EXPERTS ON WAY TO SCENE OF SCOPES TRIAL

Chicago, July 13.—(AP)—While the question of the admissibility of scientific testimony still was unsettled, Professor Fay Cooper Cole, of the anthropology department, and Professor H. H. Newman, of the zoology department of the University of Chicago, today are en route to Dayton, Tenn., prepared to testify for the defense in the Scopes trial.

Acting on word received from Clarence Darrow yesterday, the two professors left last night.

DR. ELMER ROBERTS PLANS TO TESTIFY IN EVOLUTION CASE

Champaign, Ill., July 13.—Dr. Elmer Roberts, instructor in heredity at the University of Illinois, on the eve of his departure for a short vacation, stated today that he had been asked by Dudley Field Malone to testify in the Scopes trial at Dayton, Tenn.

Dr. Roberts is an avowed evolutionist. Dr. Roberts will be able to go to Dayton about Thursday, he said.

Prepare for Revival.

Rome, Ga., July 13.—(Special.)—Preparations for the Gypsy Smith, Jr., trial, which begins September 6, are rapidly being perfected. Committees are working to have every citizen in readiness when the evangelistic party arrives.

invasion of man's religious liberty or of man's religious rights. That question cannot determine the right to the exercise of the police power, that is what it is and nothing else, and if they undertake to do an act to say that you shall not teach a certain Bible or theory of anything in your churches an invasion of a private or civil right, then according to my conception, it might interfere with the constitution."

The issue involved, the attorney general said, was whether or not the legislature of Tennessee, maintaining and creating its schools, has the right to determine what shall be taught in them.

"It is within the province of the legislature," he said, "to control the public schools of the state. This is not an invasion of individual rights, nor of the right of worship in the different churches."

The attorney general pronounced the indictment sufficiently broad to define the crime. This drew from Darrow a retort, who declared the indictment technically, declared it insufficient.

Pictures Oppression.

Darrow pointed to the passage of the statute as the first step toward a series of oppressive laws against freedom which he depicted.

"Except for the work of Thomas Jefferson which has been woven into every state constitution in the United States," he asserted, "we would be taken into a sea of blood and ruin to which all the miseries and tortures of the middle ages would be as nothing."

"This law says that it shall be a criminal offense to teach in the public schools any account of the origin of man that is in conflict with the divine account in the Bible. It makes the Bible the yardstick to measure every man's intellect."

"Every bit of knowledge that the mind has must be submitted to a religious test. It is a tragedy upon language, a travesty upon justice and a travesty upon the constitution to say that any citizen of Tennessee can be deprived of his rights by a legislative body in the face of the constitution."

No law can be passed under the police powers of a state, he held, that distinguishes between the different citizens, or classes of citizens in the state. No law, he declared, applied to school teachers alone and not to the people as a whole.

What's Wrong With Shorthand

Executives say:—

"He can't get out all she's taken."

"I'm forced to cut dictation short."

"She can't help me with other things."

"If I could only dictate it, it's a fresh in my mind."

"If she could only take it fast, I think I could get it down."

"Our sick, so my letters have to wait."

"I had all this clear in my mind last night."

That's enough! I'll send in the coupon below for general principles.

Testimony Plea Still Undecided By Dayton Judge

Dayton, Tenn., July 13.—(By the Associated Press.)—Decision by Judge John T. Raulston on the pending motion to quash the indictment against John T. Scopes, on trial here on a charge of violating the Tennessee law prohibiting teaching of evolution theories in the public schools, will bring the judge no respite for another decision waits just around the corner.

If Judge Raulston denies the motion to quash the indictment and the trial proceeds he must next decide what limitation if any shall be placed on the testimony admitted.

Defense attorneys announced today that eight scientific witnesses are on their way to Dayton to testify in Scopes' behalf. One Evans here since the opening of the trial.

List Made Public.

They are: Professor H. R. Newman, dean of the Science School, University of Chicago.

Dr. W. F. Curtis, professor of zoology, University of Missouri.

Dr. Fay-Cooper Cole, ethnologist and anthropologist of the Field Museum of Natural Science, Chicago.

Dr. Maynard E. Metcalf, Oberlin, Ohio, zoologist and expert on evolution.

William A. Nelson, geologist of state of Tennessee.

FLOYD JURY LAUDS ANTI-PISTOL BILL

Rome, Ga., July 13.—(Special.)—Following one of the strongest charges ever given a grand jury in Floyd county, the jury today went into session, indorsed and passed the bill to outlaw pistols submitted by Representative John Ramsey, of Habersham, and passed resolutions commending the stand of The Constitution in editorials and news stories against the "worst enemy of our civilization."

HOUSE WILL ACT ON VIADUCT BILL

his county who is serving his first term in the legislature after offering his amendment to charge the city $200,000 for authority to build viaducts made an impassioned speech in which he declared that if the state had the right to give away this authority it also had the right to sell it. He said that many years ago the state of Atlanta had refused to give the state a small triangle of property it owned near the Union depot, but had traded use of it for use of state-owned property along Wall street.

Hints at "Bribery."
Representative Lanier stated that the state owns a fee simple title to the railroad property 100 feet wide and declared that the viaduct should not be built because it might wish at a later date to entirely close Pryor street to traffic and possibly extend the depot across that property. While Representative Lanier declared that "he would not say there had been bribery figuring in the viaduct plan," he did ask the question and likewise declared that there appeared to be a community of interest between the city of Atlanta and the street car company which he said has been endeavoring to get tracks over the W. & A. property for some years.

Representative Willott declared that he had not been asked by any individual other than the Fulton delegation to vote or speak in favor of the viaduct plan but that he felt compelled to speak for the viaduct resolution in the best interest of both state and city. He said he had absolutely no personal interest, living 124 miles from Atlanta, except that of a member of the assembly who frequently had to wait 13 or 20 minutes to get from the Kimball house to the capitol because the tracks were blocked by long freight trains. He asked all members to consider that while they suffer this inconvenience for only 60 days every two years, the citizens of Atlanta suffer it 365 days every year.

Progressive Move.
Representative Willott pointed out that nearly all new terminals have ticket offices and waiting rooms on the floor above the tracks and cited Chicago, Kansas City, Detroit, Atlanta, Macon and other cities. He pointed out that by lifting the street traffic to the viaduct grade it would leave the track level free for unimpeded use of trains and that the state would have all the space above "the sky" for the building of terminal facilities for the use of passengers and officials.

The resolution introduced to appoint a special committee to investigate the value of the terminal properties also provided investigation of the feasibility of selling the present Union depot property and the track area from Central avenue to Forsyth street and building a new depot beyond the Spring street viaduct near the present terminal station.

Supporters of the viaduct resolution stated that they did not regard the 91 to 70 vote on the referendum of this resolution to the committee on railroads as a test of the strength of the proposal, inasmuch as many of the members did not realize it would affect the viaduct situation when they voted.

Committee Meetings.
Many routine committee meetings were held Monday afternoon, mostly for consideration of minor measures or for organization. Among those meeting were the committees on state sanitarium, Alto sanitarium, University of Georgia, public property, drainage, game and fish, county matters, ways and means, general judiciary No. 1, general judiciary No. 2 and others.

Committees called to meet today are as follows:
Banks and banking, in the state banking department offices at 2:30 p. m.

Municipal government, in the house at the press table at 9:30 a. m.

Education, in the comptroller general's office at 9 a. m.
Labor and labor statistics, in the office of the commissioner of commerce and labor at 2:30 p. m.
Appropriations, in the office of the comptroller general at 2:30 p. m.
There will be a joint session of the house and senate committees on constitutional amendments at 3 o'clock this afternoon in the senate. Special order of business calls for consideration of a bill to authorize Crisp county to issue $1,250,000 in bonds for purchase and development of water-power properties, and a bill to revise the method of selecting judges of the supreme court, and the court of appeals and justices of the supreme court.

ENGINEER URGES SAFETY MEASURE

the nerve-racking terror of witnessing crossing crashes.

Horace Elrod, engineer on the Southern railway, and chairman of the firemen's committee on legislation, related the tragedy which follows an effort to "beat the train across a crossing."

Representative Folks, of Ware county, wanted to stop the railroad trains at grade crossings instead of a crossing.

His "why not stop the trains at crossings?" idea drew considerable comment in the meeting. Mr. Flourney replied that it takes "from 2 to 5 minutes to start or stop a train traveling at the rate of 40 miles an hour with 10 cars. It would be impossible to do 200 miles under the service hour law if the train had to stop at every grade crossing," he said, "and there is one county in Georgia where there are 23 grade crossings in 13 miles."

Representative Griffin, of Decatur, also urged passage of the measure.

The substitute bill provides that upon direction of the highway department, the railroads shall erect danger signs, "Georgia Law—Stop—Dangerous Crossing," at all dangerous crossings so designated by the department.

Hudson's Bay Relic Found.
J. G. Gourley, a farmer of Millersburg, Ore., has dug up on his place a pickfork of home-made design that is at least 100 years old. It is assumed the fork is one used by the old Hudson Bay company, and is in a good state of preservation.

The signs are to be not less than 30 by 40 inches and placed not less than 8 feet above ground, at a distance of 100 feet from the outer rail of the grade crossing. The penalty for a motorist who fails to stop at distance of not less than 50 feet from the crossing before proceeding is fixed at $1 to $50 fine, or 15 days in jail.

day, two drownings were recorded here. The bathers witnessed an unusual spectacle, a small tidal wave, at intervals of 15 to 30 seconds the lake level dropped two and one-half feet and the water receded from 75 to 100 feet from the normal water line. Seven persons were drowned in New York state, New Jersey and New England.

Oklahoma City reported one: Denver one; Ashland, Neb., one; Perry, Texas, two; while four others occurred at various points in Iowa.

A member of a fishing party was killed by lightning at Nanticoke, Conn., a bath at New Haven met death from the same cause; one was killed at Mobile, Ala. A fourth fatality was recorded in the west when lightning started 40 forest fires in Idaho and northern Washington.

Motor crash fatalities in New York state, New Jersey and New England totaled six; two were killed in Chicago and seven in Ohio over the weekend. County Judge Frank Saxe and Mrs. Saxe were victims at Willow Springs, Mo. One was killed at Riverside, Cal., and one near Boulder, Col. At Gainesville, Texas, Dr. Roy E. Hughes was burned to death and James Cole, a former army aviator, was probably fatally injured when Hughes' plane crashed to the ground, while three unidentified men were killed and six others were unaccounted for when an explosion and fire destroyed a gasoline near Taylor, Texas. The loss was estimated at several hundred thousand dollars.

The two automobile deaths in Chicago, the highest for this city and vicinity so far this year to 1925.

EASTERN STATES SUFFER SEVERELY.

New York, July 13.—(AP)—The second hottest Sunday of the year in the east had a death toll of 22.

Three deaths due to the heat were recorded in New York state, 17 persons were killed in Illinois, and two were drowned in New York state, New Jersey and New England and two were killed by lightning in Connecticut.

In addition motor crash fatalities in New York state, New Jersey and New England totaled six.

Lightning Kills Two.
Thousands scattered in New York when the thermometer rose to 91 degrees accompanied by 46 per cent humidity. Massachusetts had the greatest number of drownings, two near Boston, two at Blackstone, and one each at Pittsfield and North Brookfield; New York state was next with five, two in New York city and one each at Albany, Oswego and Wells. In Connecticut there were drownings at Woodstock and Middletown. There was one drowning at Bannock, N. J., one at Pompton Lake, N. J., one at Asbury Park, N. J., and one at Providence, R. I.

ATLANTANS FILE SEA WALL SUIT

Gulfport, Miss., July 13.—(AP)—The MacDougall Construction company, of Atlanta, today filed suit in the chancery court of Harrison county, asking that it be recognized as the successful bidder for the county's $2,000,000 sea wall, and praying that the court enjoin, at least temporarily, the Woods Brothers' Construction company, of Lincoln, Neb., from proceeding with the work of construction under a contract awarded to the latter company June 6.

The suit filed by the MacDougall company is based on a claim that its bid, filed with the board of supervisors, was $1,992,175.49, which, it is asserted, is $39,317.06 less than the bid submitted by the Woods Brothers' company.

The petition alleges that the award as made to Woods Brothers was due to "favoritism."

The Woods Brothers' company has already established material yards in Gulfport and has purchased and stored a large quantity of equipment and materials, preparatory to beginning actual work on the sea wall.

than railroad use; advisability of leasing or selling the property and applying the proceeds to the payment of the bonded indebtedness of the state, and building of new terminals elsewhere.

Disease Country School Bill.
The educational equalization fund bill will be considered by the committee on education and public schools, Senator Knight, chairman. This bill provides for an equalization fund to give country children an equal chance with city children in securing an education.

The committee also will consider a bill providing for inspection and standardization of high schools under the state board of education; another providing for the selection of physical education and for enforcement of laws requiring health education, and a bill to establish the county unit plan for public school organization and administration, providing for election of county school boards of education and superintendents of schools and treasurers of school funds. Other bills to be considered are a bill to provide for a board of education committee receiving school funds shall make yearly budgets of estimated receipts and expenditures, that the school year shall be from July 1 to December 31.

The forestry contract bill is to be considered by the forestry committee, Senator Morgan, chairman, in a meeting at 8 o'clock Thursday night in the Kimball house.

The committee held a closed session Monday afternoon on the reforestation measure, and decided to give it further consideration. Senator Carlisle has been elected secretary of the board of education.

To Redraft Safety Bills.
Two bills relating to public safety at grade crossings are to be redrafted into a substitute measure by a subcommittee of the committee on commerce and labor. The substitute measure will be considered in an open meeting of the committee and labor committee to be held later.

The highway committee will meet either Wednesday or Thursday, probably in joint session with the house committee, to consider several measures affecting the state highway department. Senator Memory, chairman, will announce the time and place.

One of the bills before the highway committee provides for creation of a highway fund to be used in construction, maintenance and repair of the state aid highways and to require the highway department to classify all highways known as state highways into primary and secondary classes. Another bill provides for organization and constitution of a state highway commission of Georgia, to prescribe its duties and powers, to create a system of state-aid roads, and to provide for their designation, maintenance, improvement and construction.

To Consider Game Laws.
The senate game and fish committee will hold a joint session with the house committee at 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon in the office of the state game and fish commissioner to consider an inland game and fish bill which is aimed at sealing and poisoning of fish. This bill also provides for a change in the state hunting season in an effort to make the state law uniform with the federal law as nearly as possible. The public is invited to attend the meeting.

Senator Pickens, of the 4th, is chairman of the senate committee, and Representative Tyson, of McIntosh county, is chairman of the house committee.

The county and county matters committee, Senator Boykin, chairman, will meet at 9:30 o'clock Friday morning and general judiciary committee No. 2 will meet at 9 o'clock this morning. Senator Mays will be chairman.

An important meeting of this afternoon will be that of the state and county committees on constitutional amendments to consider a bill changing the laws for electing judges so that the supreme court will submit a list of names to the governor, who will make a selection and submit his choice for senate confirmation.

The constitutional amendments committee of the senate, Senator Dixon, chairman, held a short meeting Monday afternoon for organization. Senator Clements was elected secretary.

Finance Committee to Meet.
The meeting of the finance committee at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon is of considerable importance. At that time the committee will consider several bills relating to taxation, among these being bills concerning the inheritance tax and the equalization tax.

Introduction of the state port bill by Senator Morgan and Dixon featured the session of the senate Monday. A number of appointments by the governor were confirmed, and six of his fellow prisoners, escaped from the state prison, were released by a vote of 26 to 7.

A move by Senator Knight, of the 10th, to reconsider the bill passed by the senate several days ago, requiring all police officers in the state to wear badges at all times while on duty, failed by a vote of 21 to 17, and the bill was referred to the special judiciary committee by unanimous consent upon a request from Senator Boykin.

Senator Knight explained that his motion to reconsider was not to kill the bill, but to give an opportunity for more mature consideration. Senator Carlisle, of the seventh, also favored reconsideration in a short address.

Poolroom Measure Draws Interest.
Senator Gibbs' bill to regulate billiard and poolrooms created considerable discussion, and after a motion by Senator Andrews to postpone consideration indefinitely was overwhelmingly lost and Senator Peebles' motion for recommittal of the bill was defeated, the bill passed the senate by a vote of 26 to 7.

Senator Peebles desired a recommendation of the bill, another committee with instructions to investigate the legality of that portion of the bill which limits the ownership of poolrooms to American citizens, it being his contention that this proviso might be in conflict with treaties entered into by the United States with foreign countries. Senators Miller and Harrell spoke in favor of the bill, Senator Harrell having led the fight in the house last year against the abolition of poolrooms.

Efficiency of shorthand reporters would be increased by a bill introduced Monday by Senator Hutcheson, of the thirty-fifth. The bill provides for a board of shorthand examiners empowered to certify competent shorthand reporters.

Senator Wilkerson, of the nineteenth, introduced a measure to control and suppress the prevalence of hydrophobia through annual preventive inoculation of dogs.

A bill to extend the time for filing demurrers to pleas and answers in the court of Georgia so that demurrers may be filed at any time within 30 days from adjournment of the court wherein the pleas and answers were filed, was passed by the senate as amended. The bill was introduced by Senator Ricketson, of the nineteenth, and Andrews, of the thirty-first. The amendment was made by Senator Peebles, of the eighteenth.

Important Committee Session.
General judiciary committee No. 2 of the senate will consider several important bills in a meeting at 7:30 o'clock tonight in the Kimball house. Among the bills before the committee is one by Senator Hutcheson to eliminate "third degree" practices from police work in Georgia. The bill prescribes duties of officers when arresting persons charged with felony, and provides for appointment of attorneys by courts for the accused, as well as providing protection from "third degree" practices. It makes inadmissible declarations of the accused in evidence while under arrest.

Another bill before the committee defines and specifies the relationship which shall disqualify any judge or juror from trying a case. One of the bills to be considered by the committee provides protection for bona fide purchasers of land from heirs-at-law. This bill is by Senator Neal.

The first bill to be adversely reported by a senate committee was that one by Senator Ricketson, of the 19th, to abolish Bowden college in Carroll county. The special judiciary committee voted unanimously to give an unfavorable report on the bill, in spite of Senator Ricketson's contention that the college was too expensive to operate.

House Bills Received.
A number of house bills were received by the senate Monday, and read for the first time. Most of the measures are local bills.

One of the general bills received from the house Monday is by Representative Fletcher, of Monroe, and provides for notice to the grantee of a surety deed, the mortgagee or assignee of a record before a levy for sale of real estate for taxes, while another by Representative Neill, of Muscogee, empowers counties and municipalities to put into effect the provisions of an act exempting certain industries for five years.

The senate adopted resolutions of condolence for the death of George H. Carswell, president of last year's senate, over the death of his wife Sunday.

ATLANTANS FILE SEA WALL SUIT

Gulfport, Miss., July 13.—(AP)—The MacDougall Construction company, of Atlanta, today filed suit in the chancery court of Harrison county, asking that it be recognized as the successful bidder for the county's $2,000,000 sea wall, and praying that the court enjoin, at least temporarily, the Woods Brothers' Construction company, of Lincoln, Neb., from proceeding with the work of construction under a contract awarded to the latter company June 6.

The suit filed by the MacDougall company is based on a claim that its bid, filed with the board of supervisors, was $1,992,175.49, which, it is asserted, is $39,317.06 less than the bid submitted by the Woods Brothers' company.

The petition alleges that the award as made to Woods Brothers was due to "favoritism."

The Woods Brothers' company has already established material yards in Gulfport and has purchased and stored a large quantity of equipment and materials, preparatory to beginning actual work on the sea wall.

Disease Country School Bill.
The educational equalization fund bill will be considered by the committee on education and public schools, Senator Knight, chairman. This bill provides for an equalization fund to give country children an equal chance with city children in securing an education.

The committee also will consider a bill providing for inspection and standardization of high schools under the state board of education; another providing for the selection of physical education and for enforcement of laws requiring health education, and a bill to establish the county unit plan for public school organization and administration, providing for election of county school boards of education and superintendents of schools and treasurers of school funds. Other bills to be considered are a bill to provide for a board of education committee receiving school funds shall make yearly budgets of estimated receipts and expenditures, that the school year shall be from July 1 to December 31.

The forestry contract bill is to be considered by the forestry committee, Senator Morgan, chairman, in a meeting at 8 o'clock Thursday night in the Kimball house.

The committee held a closed session Monday afternoon on the reforestation measure, and decided to give it further consideration. Senator Carlisle has been elected secretary of the board of education.

To Redraft Safety Bills.
Two bills relating to public safety at grade crossings are to be redrafted into a substitute measure by a subcommittee of the committee on commerce and labor. The substitute measure will be considered in an open meeting of the committee and labor committee to be held later.

The highway committee will meet either Wednesday or Thursday, probably in joint session with the house committee, to consider several measures affecting the state highway department. Senator Memory, chairman, will announce the time and place.

One of the bills before the highway committee provides for creation of a highway fund to be used in construction, maintenance and repair of the state aid highways and to require the highway department to classify all highways known as state highways into primary and secondary classes. Another bill provides for organization and constitution of a state highway commission of Georgia, to prescribe its duties and powers, to create a system of state-aid roads, and to provide for their designation, maintenance, improvement and construction.

To Consider Game Laws.
The senate game and fish committee will hold a joint session with the house committee at 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon in the office of the state game and fish commissioner to consider an inland game and fish bill which is aimed at sealing and poisoning of fish. This bill also provides for a change in the state hunting season in an effort to make the state law uniform with the federal law as nearly as possible. The public is invited to attend the meeting.

Senator Pickens, of the 4th, is chairman of the senate committee, and Representative Tyson, of McIntosh county, is chairman of the house committee.

The county and county matters committee, Senator Boykin, chairman, will meet at 9:30 o'clock Friday morning and general judiciary committee No. 2 will meet at 9 o'clock this morning. Senator Mays will be chairman.

An important meeting of this afternoon will be that of the state and county committees on constitutional amendments to consider a bill changing the laws for electing judges so that the supreme court will submit a list of names to the governor, who will make a selection and submit his choice for senate confirmation.

The constitutional amendments committee of the senate, Senator Dixon, chairman, held a short meeting Monday afternoon for organization. Senator Clements was elected secretary.

Finance Committee to Meet.
The meeting of the finance committee at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon is of considerable importance. At that time the committee will consider several bills relating to taxation, among these being bills concerning the inheritance tax and the equalization tax.

Introduction of the state port bill by Senator Morgan and Dixon featured the session of the senate Monday. A number of appointments by the governor were confirmed, and six of his fellow prisoners, escaped from the state prison, were released by a vote of 26 to 7.

A move by Senator Knight, of the 10th, to reconsider the bill passed by the senate several days ago, requiring all police officers in the state to wear badges at all times while on duty, failed by a vote of 21 to 17, and the bill was referred to the special judiciary committee by unanimous consent upon a request from Senator Boykin.

Senator Knight explained that his motion to reconsider was not to kill the bill, but to give an opportunity for more mature consideration. Senator Carlisle, of the seventh, also favored reconsideration in a short address.

Poolroom Measure Draws Interest.
Senator Gibbs' bill to regulate billiard and poolrooms created considerable discussion, and after a motion by Senator Andrews to postpone consideration indefinitely was overwhelmingly lost and Senator Peebles' motion for recommittal of the bill was defeated, the bill passed the senate by a vote of 26 to 7.

Senator Peebles desired a recommendation of the bill, another committee with instructions to investigate the legality of that portion of the bill which limits the ownership of poolrooms to American citizens, it being his contention that this proviso might be in conflict with treaties entered into by the United States with foreign countries. Senators Miller and Harrell spoke in favor of the bill, Senator Harrell having led the fight in the house last year against the abolition of poolrooms.

Efficiency of shorthand reporters would be increased by a bill introduced Monday by Senator Hutcheson, of the thirty-fifth. The bill provides for a board of shorthand examiners empowered to certify competent shorthand reporters.

Senator Wilkerson, of the nineteenth, introduced a measure to control and suppress the prevalence of hydrophobia through annual preventive inoculation of dogs.

A bill to extend the time for filing demurrers to pleas and answers in the court of Georgia so that demurrers may be filed at any time within 30 days from adjournment of the court wherein the pleas and answers were filed, was passed by the senate as amended. The bill was introduced by Senator Ricketson, of the nineteenth, and Andrews, of the thirty-first. The amendment was made by Senator Peebles, of the eighteenth.

Important Committee Session.
General judiciary committee No. 2 of the senate will consider several important bills in a meeting at 7:30 o'clock tonight in the Kimball house. Among the bills before the committee is one by Senator Hutcheson to eliminate "third degree" practices from police work in Georgia. The bill prescribes duties of officers when arresting persons charged with felony, and provides for appointment of attorneys by courts for the accused, as well as providing protection from "third degree" practices. It makes inadmissible declarations of the accused in evidence while under arrest.

Another bill before the committee defines and specifies the relationship which shall disqualify any judge or juror from trying a case. One of the bills to be considered by the committee provides protection for bona fide purchasers of land from heirs-at-law. This bill is by Senator Neal.

The first bill to be adversely reported by a senate committee was that one by Senator Ricketson, of the 19th, to abolish Bowden college in Carroll county. The special judiciary committee voted unanimously to give an unfavorable report on the bill, in spite of Senator Ricketson's contention that the college was too expensive to operate.

House Bills Received.
A number of house bills were received by the senate Monday, and read for the first time. Most of the measures are local bills.

One of the general bills received from the house Monday is by Representative Fletcher, of Monroe, and provides for notice to the grantee of a surety deed, the mortgagee or assignee of a record before a levy for sale of real estate for taxes, while another by Representative Neill, of Muscogee, empowers counties and municipalities to put into effect the provisions of an act exempting certain industries for five years.

The senate adopted resolutions of condolence for the death of George H. Carswell, president of last year's senate, over the death of his wife Sunday.

Roswell Completes Plans For Opening of New Road

Final preparations for the opening of the new concrete arch bridge over the Chattahoochee river at Roswell, were completed Monday night at a meeting of Roswell citizens.

Plans include arrangements for a monster picnic supper, where plans are made to care for 5,000 people. Over 5,000 large, old-fashioned cakes have been baked for the occasion and several hundred gallons of lemonade are being prepared.

The Roswell picnic, where the picnic and major part of the entertainment will be held, has been draped in flags and bunting, and is in the course of construction. Flags will be draped over the bridge and along the highway into the heart of the city, according to plans.

Governor Clifford Walker will be principal speaker, while among guests of honor will be Senators William J. Harris and Walter George, and presidents of the principal clubs of Atlanta. Patriotic ceremonies will include the firing of three volleys in memory of Theodore Roosevelt by a band of troops from Fort McPherson. Miss Margaret Carpenter, of Roswell, will christen the bridge by breaking a bottle of Chattahoochee river water.

Atlanta is expected to send a large delegation to the event. The motorcade from Atlanta will form at 3 o'clock in Buckhead and will leave that city for Roswell at 3:30 o'clock, headed by Governor Walker and his party, who will be met in Roswell by a reception committee composed of Mayor H. I. Weaver, officers of the Roswell chamber of commerce, Cobb county commissioners and the committee on entertainment.

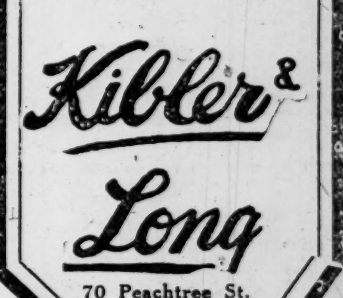

Ceremonies will mark the official opening of one of the most important and picturesque highways in the state, which has been completed with recent improvements at a cost of $1,300,000. The highway will run from Roswell north through Georgia to the state line.

MINISTERS OPPOSE MARRIAGE CHANGE

The Atlanta Evangelical Ministers' association, in a special meeting held Monday at the Central Y. M. C. A., voted unanimously to accept no compromise in regard to the fight to sustain the present marriage license law and also agreed to oppose any movement to amend present laws against Sunday movies.

Dr. T. W. Hunsberr, president of the South Atlanta district of the north Georgia conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, offered a motion which was passed unanimously that instructions be given the committee that was appointed last Monday to fight any movement tending to change the present state law which requires a notice of marriage to be posted five days in advance.

The motion condemning any action to make Sunday movies legal in Atlanta was made by Dr. C. O. Jones, head of the Georgia Anti-Saloon league, and caused no discussion. It was passed by unanimous vote.

In regard to the fight on proposed changes in the marriage license law, James Morton, secretary of the association, said that even ultimate defeat would be better than any compromise. The compromise referred to was the proposal to make the law binding on only those under 21 years of age.

The motion of Dr. J. Spaulding, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, pledging support to the present law was adopted unanimously previous to the introduction of Dr. Hunsberr's motion.

Mr. Morton stated in addition that strength would be given to efforts of the ministers by their personal contact with the members of the legislature. Judge T. H. Jeffries, ordinary of Fulton county, has offered his support of their position, Mr. Morton said.

THIRTY NEW MEASURES INTRODUCED IN HOUSE

Thirty new bills were flung into the already congested hoppers of the house of representatives Monday. Among them is a bill introduced by Davis, of Floyd, which would exempt from taxation all parsonages or ministers' homes owned by denominations, when they are not used for purposes of profit.

The Chatham delegation introduced a bill to appropriate $57,500 to the State Industrial College at Savannah, $20,000 of which would be used for maintenance, $12,500 for heating and furnishing a new school building, and $25,000 for a new dormitory.

The term of office of the state veterinarian would be made two years instead of an indefinite term during good behavior as at present, if a bill introduced by Stanford, of Lowndes, is passed. The governor would be able to name as many state depositaries as he wished in towns of 5,000 population or over, instead of being limited to two as at present, under the terms of another bill by Hamilton, of Floyd. Intoxicating liquors is prohibited in a bill by Davis, of DeKalb. This measure also provides a system of registration and marriage licensing. The measure has recently ruled that the counties cannot pay vital statistics registers, thus crippling the former state vital statistics law, and this measure will, it is said, remedy that situation.

Among appropriation bills is one by Ross, of Richmond, giving $80,000 to the bank of Donaldsonville, for the year 1926 and $100,000 for 1927 to the department of public health and hygiene and $100,000 for a nurses' home, and $250,000 for a new laboratory building at the University of Georgia. Another asks $24,000 for the eleventh district A. & M. school, and still another asks $15,000 for the war on adult illiteracy being conducted by the Georgia illiteracy commission.

The only bill introduced Monday by the Fulton delegation permits laundrymen to sell uncleaned goods on which work has been done after 10 days' notice has been posted at the county courthouse.

Bank Assessment Release Denied For Mrs. Felton

A resolution which seeks to relieve Mrs. W. H. Felton, as a stockholder in the bank of Donaldsonville, from an assessment of $1,500 against her, came before the house judiciary committee No. 2 Monday and was ordered reported unfavorably.

The resolution is by Representative Trippe, of Bartow, and sets out that it would be a "hardship and injustice on Mrs. Felton" to require her to pay this assessment. It seeks to relieve her of all her responsibility and liability of the assessment.

Several members of the committee insisted that action simply be deferred, or that the resolution be referred to a subcommittee so that the action of the committee might not appear too "abrupt," but the majority voted to report the resolution unfavorably.

A queer thing about the measure was the fact it did not show having ever been read the first time in the house. The resolution had been given a number but no record of a first reading appeared on it, it was brought out.

The committee spent three hours in consideration of various measures and voted to report favorably on a number of them.

Court Proposal Denied.

A measure personally indorsed at the committee hearing by Judge Alex Stevens of the court of appeals and Judge Arthur Powell, Atlanta lawyer, was voted down by the committee. The measure would change the method of taking cases to the appellate courts. Judge Stevens, who said he had drawn the bill and that it had the indorsement of the state bar association, explained that the measure would simplify the work of the appellate courts and would not take away any rights of appeal.

Members expressed the opinion that the measure would lessen the rights of those desiring to carry cases to higher courts and voted almost unanimously to report the measure unfavorably.

The present law which prohibits a man from willing more than one-third of his estate to a charitable or other cause or institution where he has a wife or children would be amended to except property in excess of $200,000 in a measure which the committee voted to favorably report. Bishop Ainsworth, of Macon, was present at the hearing and spoke in behalf of the bill.

New Sentence Powers.

Consideration of a bill which would repeal the indeterminate sentence law was deferred until a later meeting in order to give the author, Representative Smith, of Grady, an opportunity to amend the measure. The amendment proposed would give the judge, instead of the jury, the right to fix an indeterminate sentence.

Consideration of measures which seek repeal of the new marriage law was postponed.

A measure which, as amended, would require a deposit with the clerk of the court of $10 in cases of divorce was ordered reported favorably. The amendment adopted by the committee struck out that section of the act which would have required payment of all court costs before the divorce decree could be granted.

A number of other measures were discussed briefly and action deferred.

A petition asking permission to temporarily abandon street car service on parts of Central avenue, filed by the Georgia Railway and Power company, will be considered at a meeting of the electric and other railway committee of city council, called for 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

Nation's Capacity To Pay To Govern Debt Fundings, U. S. Treasury Indicates

No Set Terms Applicable To All Countries, Officials Assert in Explanation of Problem.

BY THOMAS L. STOKES.
Washington, July 13.—Debt negotiations which will soon begin between the United States and several smaller countries, will get easier terms than Great Britain, the treasury has clearly indicated, insisting that "capacity to pay" would govern the coming settlements.

The notion that all debt settlements must be modeled after that with Great Britain was characterized by a high treasury official as "absurd." He volunteered a detailed explanation of the treasury's view, the first to be made, in order to correct an idea which he said seemed to be generally accepted.

This position taken by the treasury may raise trouble in two quarters, from Great Britain and congress. There have been frequent indications from Great Britain that she would look with displeasure on easier terms to other debtors, and might insist that her terms be revised, in that event.

Probable Friction Denied.
It was denied at the treasury that this policy would cause any friction with the British, and it was pointed out that Great Britain indicated recognition that she would not object to this course. It was explained further that Great Britain would have to adopt a similar policy in treating with her own debtors.

The four small nations which have funded their war obligations since the settlement with Great Britain have been granted terms similar to those accorded the British, and the British settlement has become, in most minds, a model.

Congress has shown its acceptance of this idea by approving the subsequent settlement. Sentiment generally in congress has been against too lenient terms, as was indicated in sporadic debate on the debt situation during the past session.

In this connection, it was explained that the settlement with the British settlement itself was a modification of the original debt settlement plan drawn up and approved by congress, and that in amending the original plan congress had opened the way for handling each fund arrangement individually.

Means Low Interest.
The statement from the treasury Monday was regarded as intended to encourage the negotiators who will flock here in the next few weeks to talk terms, including representatives from France, Italy and Belgium, as well as for clarifying the general situation.

Of course, "easier" terms means lower interest rates and longer time in which to settle. There will be no reduction in principle. Great Britain has 62 years to settle and a lower interest rate than was provided in the original plan of settlement drafted by congress.

There is nothing "sanctified" about the British settlement, the high treasury official explained.

Great Britain made other countries wear the same suit you cut out for Great Britain.

He carried out the idea of every settlement based on that with Great Britain to its limits to show its "absurdity." Armenia, for instance, is not even a nation and can make no settlement at all, and it would be foolish to talk about a settlement on terms with Great Britain or any other.

Russia cannot pay, and is in the same category.

He also carried out to its limits the idea that countries would not recognize the basis of "capacity to pay." If Great Britain asked a revision of her settlement, in case France gets lower terms, as is indicated, then both France and Great Britain might be expected to ask a still more lenient settlement, and so on down the line to Russia and Armenia, which may never pay anything.

9 PERSONS HURT IN CAR SMASH UPS

Nine persons were injured in accidents Monday in which automobiles figured, according to police reports. One girl was seriously injured, four women had narrow escapes from death and five others were hurt in crashes in Atlanta streets.

Miss Sallie King, 13-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. King, of Hiss Park, was seriously hurt Monday night when run down by an automobile on Marietta road driven by a man who gave his name as Little, of Marietta, according to Grady hospital.

Three women, Mrs. George Keeler, Mrs. J. E. Wright, who placed him under arrest on a charge of reckless driving, according to officers' report.

Sloan claimed that he was going east on North avenue and stopped at Piedmont avenue, a traffic boulevard, and that he started again without seeing the other car time.

MAY DEFER ELECTION OF CITY OFFICIALS
Election of the city health officer, chief of the sanitary department and city smoke inspector, scheduled to be held by the sanitary committee this afternoon, probably will be postponed until Friday because of absence from the city of Councilman W. E. Saunders, chairman, it was indicated Monday.

"Mr. Saunders has asked us to hold the elections up until his return Friday," it was stated Monday by Councilman W. C. Jenkins, vice chairman. "However, the question is up to the committee and if other members want to elect officers on Tuesday, it suits me."

Dr. John P. Kennedy, city health officer, and John Dentzen, head of the sanitary department, will be candidates for reelection, and despite the fact that other names have been mentioned for both positions their nomination is not expected to be strong.

Dr. Kennedy now is serving his 24th year as city health officer, while Mr. Dentzen has been at the helm of the sanitary department for 22 years.

Two candidates, A. W. Jones and A. E. Billings, will be in the race for the newly-created position of smoke inspector.

"Atlanta's Own" Regiment Ready for Two Weeks Camp

Election and promotion of several officers and a series of conferences featured the regular weekly drill period Monday night of the 122nd infantry regiment, Georgia national guard—the last drill before the regiment entrains next Sunday morning for the annual two weeks' summer encampment on Tybee island.

First Lieutenant Frank Maloney was elected captain, succeeding Captain Basil Stockbridge as adjutant of the regiment. Captain Stockbridge, having been transferred to the command of company "E," First Lieutenant W. E. Green was promoted to captain and will command company "B," succeeding Captain W. T. Comer, resigned. Sergeant W. A. Strange was elected to be second lieutenant in company "H," commanded by Captain Ray K. (Track) Smathers.

Conferences of officers, final instructions of Regimental Commander Charles H. Cox, conferences of staff officers presided over by Lieutenant Colonel Eugene Oberdorfer, talks by company commanders to their respective companies and other similar group meetings took up the evening.

Much enthusiasm is evident among members of "Atlanta's Own" as the date for the second encampment approaches. The regiment was organized in April, 1924, and this is the second summer camp, the first being held in August last year, on St. Simon island.

From many viewpoints, according to officers of the regiment, the camp at Tybee island will be much better than the camp last year. Modern camp facilities, running water, lights and other necessities, and a better system of sanitation are among features which are being provided at Tybee island this year.

Colonel Cox returned Monday afternoon from an inspection trip to Tybee island, and incidentally viewed the 101st regiment, now in camp. At Monday night's officers' meeting he spoke interestingly of plans for this year's camp and expressed the belief that officers and men would have more satisfactory results in training programs and more opportunities for recreation in "off hours" than was provided last year.

Mornings will be taken up, under a tentative schedule, in intensive training under supervision of a corps of army instructors headed by Colonel J. M. Kimbrough, and Captain R. B. Ennis. In the afternoon schools of various kinds for officers, non-commissioned officers and men will be held, sufficient time being permitted, however, for recreation in the form of surf bathing and other features.

The service company, under command of Captain John D. McKibben, is scheduled to leave about Thursday for Tybee where placing of tents and other preliminary work will be arranged in advance of the arrival of the complete regiment.

In the Garden With Burbank

As Reported by Elizabeth Urquhart

Peaches and Nectarines.

"Where do our peaches come from, Mr. Burbank?" I asked.

"The most common variety in this country comes from Persia by way of Europe, but there are others from China, which while not thriving well on the Pacific coast are doing well in the southern states."

"The oriental peach has been cultivated more for its flowers than for its fruit and perhaps for this reason is not very hardy. The European type is vigorous, although subject to several diseases, and usually considered of short life, the trees lasting often only for 10 or 15 years."

"Peach trees, however, have been known to live under favorable conditions for 50 years, retaining their vigor and productivity, and this quality may be obtained for the peach by selection."

"Care should be taken to buying trees from good stock grown in regions free from 'yellows,' a highly contagious disease of the peach which seems to be to remedy other than digging up the tree and burning it up."

"What other diseases and pests are to be feared?" I asked.

"Unfortunately, there are a good many, and although if the trees are kept in a healthful condition they will escape most of them, there are times when drastic remedies must be applied."

"For scale-insects and bark lice, scrubbing the bark with soap suds, whitewashing the trunk of the tree and spraying with insecticides will be found effective."

"The ground around the trees must be well cultivated, weeded and fertilized, and both peaches and plums must be partially pruned every year, preferably late in the spring after the buds have been well formed; and if the trees bear heavily, the green fruit must be thinned out, picking off all that is malformed and diseased."

"In planting a peach orchard it is well to set out yearling trees or June buds every four or five years in some localities or replace older ones, so that there will be a constant succession of fruit-bearing trees."

"Are not nectarines closely related to peaches?" I asked.

"Yes, they are even more than first cousins, are often classified as distinct species, and have the two fruits branched off from the same ancestral tree type in comparatively recent times."

"In my old home in New England there were four peach trees growing in the garden, one of them known as 'Melocotone,' and one single branch always bore nectarines, which seems to have been the result of a cross in the ancestral tree. Also I observed that in crossing peaches among themselves there sometimes will be found varieties with a smooth skin."

"In this in mind I made some experiments in crossing the Muir peach and the white nectarine. The nectarine was very acid, but with a smooth skin, while the peach was hard, very sweet, free stone, but covered with disagreeable fuzz common to all peaches."

"After a few generations these peaches and nectarines have resulted in a number of variations, many of them having the smooth skin of the nectarine, and the size and quality of the peach. The best of these, the 'Opulent,' while too soft for shipment, is quite hardy and is grown where the temperature is 40 degrees below zero. The 'Opulent' was so named

Your Wish to be fresh and charming... every day

Gain it this new way that solves, so exquisitely, woman's oldest hygienic problem

THERE is a new way in woman's hygiene. A way that supplants the uncertainty of old-time sanitary pads with scientific safety.

Wear your lightest frocks; dine, dance, motor in confidence, security. Live every day of your life, unhandicapped.

The name is Kotex. It's made of cellulose, the war's great absorbent.

It absorbs 16 times its own weight in moisture. Five times that of the ordinary cotton pad!

It is as easily disposed of as a piece of tissue—ending the old embarrassment of disposal. It is deodorized. And that prevents danger of offense.

It's at every drug store, every department store. You ask for it without hesitancy under its trade name of "Kotex."

8 in 10 women of the better classes have adopted it. Doctors urge it. Hygienic authorities employ it.

It will mean much to you... it will make a great difference in your life. Going on with old ways is a folly.

ANSWERED LETTERS.
Helen: After the pores of the face have become enlarged it takes a long time to contract them but it can be done if you do not lose your patience and get careless from time to time in the care of your skin.

A daily full warm bath will keep the skin all over the body acting so freely that the pores of the complexion will be relieved of extra work, which will result in a gradual toning of the skin so that the pores will not be so distended.

After cleansing of the complexion, either by bathing or with a cleansing cream always close the pores with a generous application of very cold water or with an ice rub.

Easter Eyes: From the description of your skin, I should say that you had some form of eczema; but whatever it is, it is much better for you to have your doctor prescribe for it rather than to delay a recovery by making experiments with it yourself.

If your hair is short and the scalp oily, you should shampoo it every week. A very oily scalp comes from a sluggish condition in the digestive system and this will probably improve under the use of your particular needs.

Blue Eyes: It is possible there is some trouble with your nervous system that causes your hair to turn grey at 18 years of age. It is best for you to have your scalp treated by a doctor who understands your particular needs.

Acne: If your fingers are too large because they are fat, you can reduce them by massage.

M. E. W.: To get the scattered grey hairs mix powdered henna with the soap lather when shampooing, but allow the lather to remain on the hair from five to 20 minutes according to your particular needs. Now proceed as you would with any other method of shampooing.

Coarse hair will always take a long time to tint than fine hair.

Mrs. S.: Filoxarine is one of the ingredients used in some hair tonics. It is particularly good for scalp that is sluggish or where the hair is turning grey prematurely. It is not in need of such a tonic I will be glad to mail mine to you. Include a self-addressed, stamped envelope when making such a request.

Blue Eyes: If your fingers are thin you can build them up by massaging them with a nourishing oil, and your knuckles will not be so prominent.

Daisy: After adult age very little can be done to correct bowlegs. There is an operation for this but few people would care to go through it, but it is a difficult one to undergo.

Train yourself to stand properly. With your whole figure well poised your bowed legs will scarcely matter at all.

Newlywed: Dampen some bicarbonate of soda and spread it over the discolored place on your arm left from the lot for burn. It may take a week or more to bleach off the mark but you can help this along if you repeat the treatment several times each day.

Lives in 'Kingdom of the Blind'

Miss Grace Allen, director of music in the school for the Blind at St. Paul, Minn., who is the guest of Dr. and Mrs. Ira David at their home in Decatur.

Blindness: To the average person the word brings to mind the most terrible of afflictions.

Miss Grace Allen, who has never known what it means to see the things that seem so commonplace to those who are not of the "Kingdom of the Blind," has by sheer will power, hard work and the strength of her true Christian character, been able to overcome this seeming handicap, and to help others by so doing.

At the age of two weeks Miss Allen was stricken with blindness and everything known to science was administered by loved ones to restore her sight, without success. She showed marked aptitude for music very early in life and was carefully trained in piano. Later it was found that she was possessed of a voice of unusual possibilities, and now she holds the responsible position of musical director and teacher of voice in the Bible Training school in St. Paul, Minn.

Early Education.
Miss Allen received her early education at Nyack-on-the-Hudson and later attended the School for the Blind at Philadelphia. She stood extremely high in her classes and graduated with honors, taking all her examinations on the typewriter, being both accurate and proficient on this machine.

Her work has been thoughtfully and carefully planned in a most wonderful manner. She writes the notes to her songs in a system of her own and has had several books of these notes published. She plays anything she hears, and can then transcribe the notes for her own future use. She reads almost entirely with her left hand, and carries her right hand, which is the right hand in a system of the blind and is able to read three of these systems.

During the summer Miss Allen devotes her talents and time to gospel singing in different parts of the country. She is at present the guest of the Rev. and Mrs. Ira David at their home in Decatur. Mr. David is the pastor of the Atlanta Gospel Tabernacle on Capitol avenue, and Miss Allen's vocal and piano selections are adding greatly to the spiritual beauty of these meetings.

Contributes Services.
En route to her home in St. Paul, Minn., Miss Allen will contribute her services to meetings in several cities. To meet and come in contact with this wonderful woman and to feel that her sweetness and happy nature have shone through the darkness of her life and have made those around her more able to bear their burdens, should be a lesson to us who have never known what real sorrow and affliction mean.

NEW NUMBERING PLAN APPROVED

New house numbers for the entire city of Atlanta will be put into effect simultaneously on some specified date, about the middle of next year, it was decided Monday at a conference between members of the city planning commission and representatives of all public utilities and large retail business houses.

As planned, field work, which has been conducted for the past four months, will be continued until a complete map showing present and proposed numbers is completed. About January 1 business houses will be notified of what new numbers will be and asked to be prepared to make them effective on the later date. Residence owners will be given about a month's notice.

R. W. Torras, engineer and secretary of the planning commission, who worked out the new numbering system and who has been in charge of the work, reported his progress to the commission and stated that he will have all numbers ready for installation by the date selected.

Tentative plans for distribution of the numbers were discussed and all organizations represented promised wholehearted cooperation in the work.

Mr. Torras explained that before any new numbers can be given, it will be necessary to make additions and revisions to old maps and to prepare new ones which will show every lot and present numbers of houses located on them. A considerable amount of field work will be necessary to accomplish this, he said.

The Torras system calls for dividing the city into four parts by imaginary lines, and numbering houses in each direction from the lines. House numbers on streets not touching any of these lines will be identical with those directly in line with them on parallel streets.

The north-south base line would be Peachtree, West Peachtree and Pryor streets, while East Hunter street and Boulevard DuKalm would constitute the east-west line.

Among those at the meeting, in addition to members of the planning commission, were Postmaster E. A. Large and representatives of the Western Union, Southern Bell, Georgia Railway and Power company, express companies, chamber of commerce, Retail Merchants' association and other organizations carrying on extensive business with the public.

A number of petitions asking amendments to the zoning law also were heard by the commission. Changing of property at 506 and 508 Ponce de Leon avenue from apartment house to business zone, and rezoning of the west side of North Boulevard between Boulevard park and Morning side from residential to business were approved. A request that a small section at Beecher and White streets, near the Joe Brown Junior High school, be changed from a residence to business section was denied.

A petition asking that the south-west corner of Washington and Rawson streets be changed from apartment house to business zone, and a number of protests had been presented.

FARM SETTLERS' AGENCY HEAD HERE

Charles A. Stanton, president of the Agricultural Appraisal company, of Columbus, Ohio, returned to Atlanta Monday and has established headquarters at the Piedmont hotel, where he expects to remain several weeks. As recently announced in The Constitution, Mr. Stanton is organizing the Georgia Farm Land corporation for the purpose of establishing a farm settlement service that will encourage farmers of northern and middle-western states, who are migrating south, to settle in Georgia.

Mr. Stanton has a very comprehensive plan worked out based upon the use of a scientific appraisal system, which has been endorsed by the Ohio Farmers' association and many of the farm organizations of his state.

A circular recently mailed to all the banks of Georgia received such favorable response that Mr. Stanton has decided to proceed with the organization at once.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Easier to Remove.
Sprinkle the greased lard cake pans with a little flour before pouring in the batter and the cakes will not stick to the pans after baking.

Trouble-Gone.
That mark on your highly polished table caused by a hot platter can be removed by making a thin paste of olive oil and salt and spreading it over the mark. Let stand for one hour. When you rub it off the mark will disappear.

Wet Umbrellas.
Umbrella manufacturers tell us the best thing to do with a very wet umbrella is to turn it upside down and let the moisture drip away from the ribs. Don't open it to dry as this stretches the ribs and makes the umbrella bulky.

Pep to the Potato.
New potatoes are apt to prove tiresome on account of the limited ways of preparation. Did you ever try serving them with a tablespoon or so of very finely chopped onion and 1 of chopped parsley over them? Of course melted butter and a sprinkling of paprika completes the picture.

MANY SPEAKERS PLEAD FOR CHILDREN'S CODE

Reasons for adoption of a children's code for Georgia were presented last Monday at a joint session of senate general judiciary committee No. 1 and the training school committee of the house.

The utter helplessness of dependent and delinquent children of the state was one of the reasons presented by the speakers in urging adoption of the measure. Disease that runs rampant through illiterate families, breaking out to an alarming degree in their children, who, in many cases, become wards of juvenile courts, was another one urged. "Save the children for Georgia's posterity" was the keynote of all the addresses.

Seven leading Georgia men and women spoke, presenting the side of the Georgia code commission on the subject, and more than 200 men, women and girls from different parts of Georgia were present.

Those who spoke were Mrs. Alonzo Richardson, Atlanta, chairman of the children's code commission; Judge R. E. Feltz, judge of the juvenile court of Savannah; Judge W. E. Thomas, judge of the superior court, Valdosta; J. L. R. Boyd, Atlanta division, National Association Legal Aid bureau; Louis Marquardt, of Atlanta, American Federation of Labor; Miss Cora M. Kee, of Columbus, Cherokee county juvenile court; Mrs. Mary Harris Napier, state president of the W. C. T. U., of Eastman.

Telegrams endorsing the proposed laws creating the children's code and its attendant agencies were read by Mrs. Viola Ross Napier, of Macon, representative from Bibb county, chairman of the house training schools committee, from the following Savannah persons: Nellie H. Alexander, vice president of the Savannah Kindergarten club; Mrs. Fred Wessels, president of the Georgia congress of parents and teachers; Mrs. Otto Kolb, Parent-Teacher Association of Chatham county; Mrs. H. E. Wallace, president Savannah League of Women Voters; Mrs. Olat Otto, president of the Savannah Federation of Women's clubs.

It was agreed between Mrs. Napier and Senator Perkins, chairman of the senate general judiciary committee, No. 2, that no attempt would be made Monday to pass upon the bills under consideration, but that subcommittees from each committee would be named to study each particular bill.

Subcommittees were not appointed Monday evening following the executive session of the committees, but may be appointed later. Both judiciary No. 1 and the training school committees have meetings today, but it is probable that further consideration of the code bills will be held at a later date.

COUNTY MANAGER MEASURE GIVEN COMMITTEE FAVOR

A bill introduced in the house recently by Representative Weekes, of DeKalb county, to provide for county managers in some counties of Georgia, was unanimously recommended by the committee on county and county matters at a meeting held in the office of the prison committee Monday afternoon.

The new bill is an act to amend an act whereby any county desiring the commission form of government may call an election and decide on the question by a majority of votes cast by qualified voters. Heretofore, Mr. Weekes stated, many people have failed to go to the polls to vote on the question due to lack of interest or for some other reason. Proposals to form commission forms of government must receive majority vote of all qualified voters under present regulations.

Under the Weekes bill, a majority of the actual votes cast will determine the outcome of the election. A bill to change the state depository in Atkinson county was recommended favorably to the house for action. The bill has been introduced by Representative W. H. Russell, of Barrow.

The committee unanimously recommended a proposal to provide for election of a board of education in Barrow county. The bill was introduced in the house by Russell, of Barrow.

"Constant Reader" Adds Another Case to In-Law Problem

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"Constant Reader" contributes one more tragedy to the in-law problem of married life. The longer I live and the more love and marriage problems that come to me, the more convinced I am of the truth of that old adage: No house is large enough to house two families.

My advice to young couples confronted seemingly with the necessity of moving into the home of one or the other of the parents is: "Don't do it! Take one small room somewhere away from a parental roof, if need be, or, wait until there is some money saved, or until a dependent mother has found some means of support of her own."

Constant Reader's case is real tragedy affecting three young lives: the young man's, his wife's and the baby that is coming. They have been married less than a year and already are talking divorce. Before the baby is born.

Some folk might blame the boy for marrying so young, some the girl for not playing the game when she knew the exact financial situation of the boy and his family. But wiser heads will see the situation only as it relates to the inability of in-laws to get along. The boy says: "Ours was love at first sight. We used to go out quite often and finally marriage was decided. I am 22, and have always right in the case."

What should Constant Reader do? He will have to let mother and the younger sister shift for themselves. His duty is with the wife and the child on the way. If there are other sisters in the family, let them take care of mother. The young wife is the important consideration and its rights to a home the only important one.

BALLARD GLASSES

Those who already wear Ballard's glasses know, and the general public is rapidly finding out, that the quality, service and style which enters into every pair of our glasses, repair work, adjustments of frames and courteous attention to each individual patient is not always found elsewhere. Why? Because every man in our employ is an expert in his particular work. We are exclusive opticians—no side lines of any kind. Ask the better oculists and physicians about our reliability, accuracy and high-class optical service.

DEMOCRATIC LEADER PLANS TRIP TO WEST

Washington, July 13.—(P)—With the democrats already laying the foundation for a determined campaign to regain control of congress, the 1926 congressional elections give promise now of gaining a share of national interest.

Under the leadership of Representative Oldfield, of Arkansas, the democratic congressional committee has begun its organization work with a view to centering its efforts largely in what are generally regarded as the close districts.

At the same time the republican organization is preparing to meet the attacks in those centers and also to carry the fight to the enemy in a number of democratic strongholds. Returning today from organization meetings in Missouri and Indiana, Representative Oldfield announced that he would leave soon for a swing through the west on a similar mission.

He will speak at national gatherings of state democratic leaders at Omaha, Denver, Salt Lake City, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Portland, Spokane and Seattle.

"Educate, organize, fight," is the message Mr. Oldfield will take to these meetings, and he will call for the perfecting of the organizations from state committees down to precinct bodies.

Moreover, he will urge the democrats to nominate the biggest democrats that can be found in the districts, declaring that "no man is too big to run for congress."
